Replacement information

Replacement products

In response to requests from many of our customers, we have restructured the packaging of the IBM Rational Software Architect family to make it possible to separately purchase various subsets of this product family's capabilities. As part of this restructuring, we are withdrawing from market these offerings:

- IBM Rational Software Modeler
- IBM Rational Software Architect Standard Edition
- IBM Rational Modeling Extension for Microsoft .NET
- IBM Rational Modeling for Communications Applications (as marketed via part numbers exposed through the IBM Rational Software Architect for WebSphere® Software PID)

Full details of the restructuring and resultant entitlement changes are provided below. The following points are important to note:

IBM Rational Software Architect for WebSphere Software is unaffected. While many customers wish to purchase capabilities more discretely, many others still prefer the convenience of simpler purchase and renewal transactions that cover a complete set of commonly valued capabilities as provided by IBM Rational Software Architect for WebSphere Software.

The supported lifetime commitments for IBM Rational Software Modeler and IBM Rational Software Architect Standard Edition versions V7.5 are not affected by this action. Those versions will still be supported in accordance with the IBM Software Group Enhanced Lifecycle Policy. The 7.5 versions reached Product General Availability in October of 2008, meaning they will remain in service until at least April 30, 2014.

Customers who hold entitlement to IBM Rational Modeling for Communications Applications will become entitled to the replacement offering named IBM Rational Software Architect Extension for Communications Applications.

Explanation of product packaging changes and migration of entitlements.

Prior to version 8.0 the available IBM Rational IT Solution Architecture and Construction offerings were:

- IBM Rational Application Developer for WebSphere Software
- IBM Rational Software Modeler
- IBM Rational Software Architect Standard Edition
- IBM Rational Software Architect for WebSphere Software
- IBM Rational Software Modeling Extension for Microsoft .NET

As of V8.0, the available offerings are:

- IBM Rational Application Developer for WebSphere Software
- IBM Rational Application Developer Standard Edition for WebSphere Software
- IBM Rational Software Architect
- IBM Rational Software Architect Extension for Integrated Architecture Frameworks
- IBM Rational Software Architect Extension for Deployment Planning
- IBM Rational Software Architect Extension for C++
- IBM Rational Software Architect Extension for SOA and WebSphere
- IBM Rational Software Architect Extension for Communications Applications
- IBM Rational Software Architect Simulation Toolkit

- IBM Rational Software Architect for WebSphere Software

As per Announcement Letter, released on the same day as this announcement, the following offerings have reached End-of-Life:

- IBM Rational Software Modeler
- IBM Rational Software Architect Standard Edition
- IBM Rational Software Modeling Extension for Microsoft .NET

Entitlements of customers who license these offerings will be replaced as follows. These are free, entitled migration paths:

Licensees of IBM Rational Software Modeler become entitled to these two offerings:

- IBM Rational Software Architect
- IBM Rational Software Architect Extension for Integrated Architecture Frameworks

Licensees of IBM Rational Software Architect Standard Edition become entitled to these four offerings:

- IBM Rational Software Architect
- IBM Rational Software Architect Extension for Integrated Architecture Frameworks
- IBM Rational Software Architect Extension for Deployment Planning
- IBM Rational Software Architect Extension for C++

Licensees of IBM Rational Software Modeling Extension for Microsoft .NET are affected as follows: The functionality of IBM Rational Software Modeling Extension for Microsoft .NET is now included as part of IBM Rational Software Architect and is also included as part of IBM Rational Software Architect for WebSphere Software.

This means all customers who license those offerings will now have the functionality. This includes customers who are receiving entitlement to IBM Rational Software Architect as part of the migrations from IBM Rational Software Modeler and IBM Rational Software Architect Standard Edition (described above).

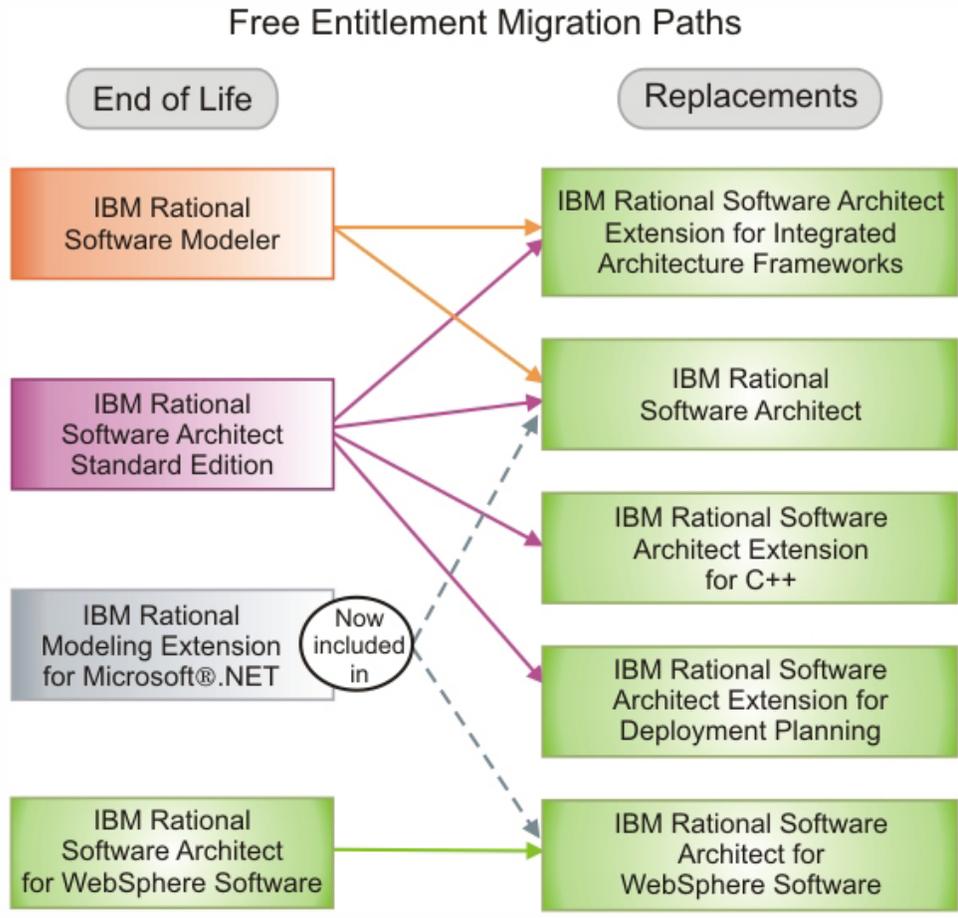

You can simply stop renewing maintenance on IBM Rational Software Modeling Extension for Microsoft .NET. You are licensed to use the equivalent and enhanced capabilities, and maintenance of those capabilities is now covered as part of IBM Rational Software Architect and IBM Rational Software Architect for WebSphere Software.

Licensees of IBM Rational Software Architect for WebSphere Software are unaffected, apart from the fact that they will acquire rights to use the capabilities of the former IBM Rational Modeling Extension for Microsoft .NET as part of their entitlements.

Effective on the Electronic General Availability date of the new offerings, all customers who hold entitlements to the offerings that are going to End of Life, will have those entitlements automatically replaced by entitlements to the replacement offerings (as previously described). Thus, the next time these customers come up for maintenance renewal, the renewal letters will quote maintenance renewals for the replacement offerings.

The maintenance renewal part numbers for the offerings that are going to End of Life, will remain active until January 17, 2011. This is to ensure that renewal agreements that have been in preparation prior to this Announcement Letter, but will not be submitted and processed in final form until later in 2010, can be processed without special handling. Licensees who end up renewing on the End of Life offerings in such scenarios, will continue (revert) to showing entitlement to the older offerings. In order to adopt the new replacement offerings at Version level 8.0, these licensees must work with their account representatives to submit a request to have their entitlements changed to the replacement offerings, in order to gain access to the new version 8.0 software images.

Here is a graphical view of the entitlement migrations associated with the restructuring of the IBM Rational Software Architect product line:
