IBM Lotus Mobile Connect V6.1.3 expands desktop support to include Mac OS X 10.4 and 10.5

At a glance

IBM® Lotus® Mobile Connect V6.1.3 expands desktop support to include:

• Mac OS X 10.4
• Macintosh OS X 10.5
• Intel® and Power PC®, 32 bit and 64 bit

IBM Lotus Mobile Connect V6.1.3 extends integrated IBM Lotus Note Traveler support to Nokia S60 devices.

Overview

IBM Lotus Mobile Connect (LMC) V6.1.3 is a distributed, scalable, multipurpose communications platform designed to optimize bandwidth, help reduce costs, and help ensure security. It also creates a mobile Virtual Private Network (VPN) that encrypts data over vulnerable wireless local area network (LAN) and wireless wide area network (WAN) connections.

LMC integrates an exhaustive list of standard Internet Protocol (IP) and non-IP wireless bearer networks, server hardware, device operating systems, and mobile security protocols. By creating a mobile VPN, Lotus Mobile Connect V6.1.3 goes well beyond the Secure Sockets Layer (SSL) level of security offered by other (mobile and non-mobile) products.

LMC can be used in conjunction with many applications both Web based (via client-less VPN) and client based (via traditional VPN client) that includes IBM Lotus iNotes™, IBM Lotus Notes®, IBM Lotus Sametime®, IBM Lotus Connections, IBM WebSphere® Portal, and IBM Lotus Quickr™. The benefit with each of these solutions is to help encrypt business applications and extend them to mobile users using a desktop, laptop, or handheld mobile device outside of the traditional office. It is a critical component in many industry-specific solutions from IBM.

New features

• LMC expands its breadth of desktop client platforms to include the Macintosh desktop, supporting OS X 10.4 and 10.5, running on 32-bit and 64-bit Intel, or 32-bit and 64-bit Power PC, as well as new support for Red Hat 5.
• LMC’s Mobility Client for Symbian devices provide an integrated configuration, login, and logging experience for select Nokia E-Series devices. Supported devices include Nokia E-50, E-51, E-60, E-61, E-61i, E-62, E-66, E-70, E-71, E-75, and E-90.
• Simplified Mobility Client APIs reduce the application integration effort making it easier to establish integrated configuration, starting, and stopping of basic IP-LAN connections.

• HTTP Access capabilities include session termination upon application logout that allows end users to destroy session security tokens upon application logout. Also, two new LTPA configuration properties improve the ease of application single sign on configuration, and the form login panels look and feel consistent with other Lotus applications, including dynamic resolution support for improved display on mobile devices.

• LMC Connection Manager and Gatekeeper now support AIX® V6.1, Windows® 2008, and Red Hat 5, and integrates with DB2® V9.5.

Limitations

Mobility Client is software that runs locally on user devices and offers a full-function interface to communicate with Connection Manager. Once Mobility Client authenticates to Connection Manager, a VPN is established and the device securely joins the enterprise intranet. Connection Manager supports standard IP routing (includes routing over non-IP wireless bearer networks) to help ensure unbroken, end-to-end TCP sessions between mobile devices and application servers. Mobility Client also includes a toolkit and application program interfaces to create network-aware applications. Limitations may apply to some devices.

IBM Electronic Services

IBM has transformed its delivery of hardware and software support services to help you achieve higher system availability. Electronic Services is a Web-enabled solution that offers an exclusive, no-additional-charge enhancement to the service and support available for IBM servers. These services are designed to provide the opportunity for greater system availability with faster problem resolution and preemptive monitoring.
