Overview

IBM® intends to deliver a retail pack to extend industry-specific capabilities of IBM Integration Bus. The planned capabilities will provide ready-to-use connectivity and time-saving patterns for retailers who seek cross-channel integration. It is anticipated that pattern-based, retail-focused development tooling will provide rapid integration without detailed knowledge of integration engines or enterprise service bus (ESB) technologies.

Planned capabilities include:

- Integration between WebSphere® Commerce and Sterling Order Management
- Integration with Toshiba® Global Commerce Solution SurePos ACE 4690 to provide trickle feed transmission of TLOG data, together with a pattern to easily transform TLOG data into PosLog standard
- Web-based interface to provide operational views of data from point-of-sale devices
