IBM Verse On-Premises V1.0.3 brings calendar and mail delegation capabilities, and improved performance

Table of contents

At a glance

Along with improved performance and a new folder unread count feature, IBM Verse[(R)] On-Premises V1.0.3 continues to build on the foundation established earlier this year for on-premises users by delivering the following capabilities previously available only in cloud deployments:

- Calendar delegation
- Mail delegation

Overview

IBM Verse On-Premises V1.0.3 continues to transform enterprise email by combining collaborative communication with a focus on work and tasks that matter most. Intuitive user design is a key attribute of Verse, which delivers an innovative email experience to both cloud and on-premises users. Among several user interface enhancements and performance gains, capabilities in Verse On-Premises V1.0.3 include:

- Calendar delegation. Previously available only in Verse on Cloud and the Notes[(R)] Client, this versatile capability is now included in Verse On-Premises. With calendar delegation, Verse enables you to delegate access to another person's calendar. The delegate may then create new calendar events, alter existing invitations, respond to event invitations, and manage your calendar on your behalf.
- Mail delegation. Similar to the calendar delegation feature, the mail delegation feature enables you to delegate access to another person's mail file. The delegate may then write emails, respond to emails, and manage your mail file on your behalf.

Verse takes a different approach to enterprise email by integrating the ways employees connect each day into a single collaboration environment for mail, meetings, calendars, file sharing, or social.

This product is only available through Passport Advantage.

Licensing

IBM International Program License Agreement including the License Information document and Proof of Entitlement (PoE) govern your use of the program. PoEs are required for all authorized use. The initial period of Software Subscription and Support (also referred to as Software Maintenance) can be extended by the purchase of a renewal option, if available. These programs have a one-time license charge for use of the program and an annual renewable charge for the enhanced support that includes telephone assistance (voice support for defects during normal business hours), as well as access to updates, releases, and versions of the program as long as support is in effect.

Limited warranty

IBM warrants that when the program is used in the specified operating environment, it will conform to its specifications. The warranty applies only to the unmodified portion of the program. IBM does not warrant uninterrupted or error-free operation of the program or that IBM will correct all program defects. You are responsible for the results obtained from the use of the program.

IBM provides you with access to IBM databases containing information about known program defects, defect corrections, restrictions, and bypasses at no additional charge. For further information, see the IBM Software Support Handbook.

IBM will maintain this information for at least one year after the original licensee acquires the program (warranty period).

This technical support allows you to obtain assistance (by telephone or electronic means) from IBM for product-specific, task-oriented questions regarding the installation and operation of the program product. Software Subscription and Support (Software Maintenance) also provides you with access to updates (modifications or fixes), releases, and versions of the program. You will be notified, through an announcement letter, of discontinuance of support with 12 months' notice. If you require additional technical support from IBM, including an extension of support beyond the discontinuance date, contact your IBM representative or IBM Business Partner. This extension may be available for a fee.

If for any reason you are dissatisfied with the program and you are the original licensee, you may obtain a refund of the amount you paid for it, if within 30 days of your invoice date you return the program and its PoE to the party from whom you obtained it. If you downloaded the program, you may contact the party from whom you acquired it for instructions on how to obtain the refund.

For clarification, note that (1) for programs acquired under the IBM International Passport Advantage offering, this term applies only to your first acquisition of the program and (2) for programs acquired under any of IBM's On/Off Capacity on Demand (On/Off CoD) software offerings, this term does not apply since these offerings apply to programs already acquired and in use by you.

Statement of good security practices

IT system security involves protecting systems and information through intrusion prevention, detection, and response to improper access from within and outside your enterprise. Improper access can result in information being altered, destroyed, or misappropriated or can result in misuse of your systems to attack others. Without a comprehensive approach to security, no IT system or product should be considered completely secure and no single product or security measure can be completely effective in preventing improper access. IBM systems and products are designed to be part of a regulatory compliant, comprehensive security approach, which will necessarily involve additional operational procedures, and may require other systems, products, or services to be most effective.

Important: IBM does not warrant that any systems, products, or services are immune from, or will make your enterprise immune from, the malicious or illegal conduct of any party.
