IBM United States Software Announcement 217-063
IBM is a registered trademark of International Business Machines Corporation
February 14, 2017

Description

Watson for Oncology now offers a new pricing structure based on the number of patients. This new feature can help reduce the cost and time to get started with Watson for Oncology. Its multi-tenant architecture enables a single instance of the solution to be deployed to serve multiple customers.

Oncologists have limited time to make ever increasingly complex assessments of patients amid rapidly evolving clinical knowledge. Watson for Oncology provides clinicians a dynamic patient summary constructed from information garnered from both structured and unstructured clinical information, and present ranked treatment options with the evidence that supports those options. In addition, oncologists can have information to help them quickly evaluate multiple treatment options based on outcome statistics and potential toxicity.

Accessibility by people with disabilities

A US Section 508 Voluntary Product Accessibility Template (VPAT), containing details about accessibility compliance, can be found on the IBM Accessibility website.
