Overview

Revised key prerequisites

In Software Announcement 217-452, dated August 29, 2017, the Key prerequisites section stated that IBM(R) Java(TM) SDK is required and is included for download with the offering. A Java SDK is required, but it does not have to be IBM Java SDK. IBM Java SDK is not included for download with the offering, but is available from IBM developerWorks(R).

Additionally, the same section listed Linux(R) 64 bit Debian and Red Hat Enterprise Linux 64 bit separately as supported operating systems. These two items are now consolidated into a single item. The Key prerequisites are now represented as the following:

- x86 64 bit Debian or Red Hat Package Manager (RPM)-based Linux
- macOS (Developer edition only)

IBM support for the Reactive Platform Developer edition V1.2

Clients with an active support contract for Reactive Platform V1.2 are also entitled to IBM support for the Developer edition as long as an active support contract is in place for Reactive Platform V1.2, the IBM product. For a list of supported modules, see the Reactive Platform Supported Modules web page. This support is in addition to that supplied by developer forums, as previously announced in Software Announcement 217-452, dated August 29, 2017.
