CASCON is a premier industrial and academic conference for advanced studies in computer science and software engineering sponsored by the IBM Canada Laboratory. CASCON attracts software developers, researchers, innovators, technologists and decision makers from academia, industry and government, who come together to learn about technology trends, present papers, participate in workshops, and exhibit prototypes and solutions. The CASCON program features thought-provoking keynotes, original research papers, stimulating workshops, and an engaging technology expo. Conference proceedings are published in the ACM Digital Library.

Workshops at CASCON 2018 provides a forum to present, discuss, and debate issues, problems, ideas, technology gaps, work-in-progress, and/or directions. The format of a workshop may include position papers, expert panels, hands-on exercises, and discussions. All submitted workshop proposals require a long abstract of 1500 words maximum, typically including the abstract, rationale, technical/research scope, organizers, workshop format, and expected outcomes. Long abstracts of accepted workshops will be included in the conference proceedings published by CASCON and included in the ACM Digital Library.

The Technology Expo at CASCON 2018 provides an excellent opportunity to highlight your research results and generate interest in upcoming products and product areas. Exhibits on emerging technologies are encouraged. The format of an exhibit may be a demonstration, poster presentation, or a short talk. A booth is provided at no cost to the exhibitors. Each booth will be set up with power and wireless internet access. Exhibitors are responsible for bringing the necessary equipment such as machines, laptops, monitors, power cables, security locks as well as any printed materials including posters.
